

BA (Hons) in Education and Professional Development

University of
HUDDERSFIELD

INTRODUCTION

Boston College has run this course, an award of the University of Huddersfield since 2009. The course is designed to meet the needs of professionals wishing to broaden their knowledge of theory, policy and research methods within education and other related areas. Candidates will develop their personal, professional ability and confidence to continue with their professional and career development.

WORK EXPERIENCE

Employment within an educational setting will support the modules within the course and the candidate's professional development.

HOW LONG WILL IT TAKE

The course requires 2 years part time study. For the Honours degree candidates will need to study part time for another year. There are weekly taught sessions which run from 5pm-8pm during term time between September and June. Tutorial support is arranged at other convenient times.

ENTRY QUALIFICATIONS

The course is particularly relevant for those wishing to progress from a Certificate in Education to an undergraduate degree. Candidates who hold a Certificate in Education and 2 years full-time teaching experience or equivalent will be able to claim 180 towards the degree. Applications are also welcomed from candidates with 5 years appropriate professional experience within the education sector. The University admissions tutor is keen to explore applicants experience in this sector and to respond positively to individual needs.

WHERE COULD IT LEAD

The course may lead to career progression and further postgraduate study.

FEES

Fees for 2011/2012: £900 (which may be paid in instalments).

Fees are subject to change.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Modules:

Year 1 Professional Reflection and Development

Year 2 Introduction to Research and Academic Writing

Year 3 Current Issues in Education and Professional Development

HOW TO APPLY

You can apply for this course by applying online, by filling out an application form from the College prospectus or by contacting the Information Officer on 01205 313218 for further information.

There is an online application form via the University of Huddersfield website: <http://halo.hud.ac.uk/applicationform>.

All candidates will need to complete an online application form with the University of Huddersfield.

The Information on this Course Information Sheet is correct at time of print, but can be subject to change at anytime.

08/06/2011 13:20:21 inserv1